ACTIVITIES IN THE PAST YEAR

I. CAMPAIGNS

A. TRIAL OBSERVATION AND LAWYER SUPPORT

1. KARPAL SINGH CAMPAIGN - MALAYSIA

David Gibbons Q.C. and Richard Fowler were scheduled to attend Mr. Singh's trial both in July 2000 and May 2001, but the trial was adjourned. LRWC believes that the attendance of LRWC observers and their intention to hold a watching brief on behalf of LRWC was a factor in the trial being adjourned and in diminishing enthusiasm for the prosecution.

LRWC's campaign on behalf of Karpal Singh has, to date, been successful in three key respects:

- a) Mr. Singh remains free on bail. The expected presence in court of David Gibbons Q.C. and Richard Fowler to either monitor or hold a watching brief of the trial has contributed to increasing reluctance to proceed and, we assume, to the adjournments from July 18/00 to May/01 and now to October 18-31/01.
- b) LRWC's article, "Lawyers and the Rule of Law on Trial: Sedition in Malaysia" was useful to Mr. Singh and well received by NGOs critical of the prosecution of Mr. Singh.
- c) LRWC has cooperated and shared information with a number of other organizations including the Bar Human Rights Committee of England and Wales (BHRC), the International Commission of Jurists (ICJ), and the International Bar Association (IBA). Michael Birnbaum Q.C. and James Laddie of the BHRC produced a comprehensive article on the sedition charge. Representatives from ICJ, BHRC and the IBA were scheduled to attend Mr. Singh's May 2001 trial.

2. GERARDI TRIAL CAMPAIGN - GUATEMALA

James Tate attended the final week of the trial of those charged with the murder of Bishop Gerardi in Guatemala City from June 3 to 9, 2001. LRWC's purpose in sending a representative was to support lawyers and judges under severe threats to their lives.

The Gerardi trial was the trial of four people charged with the murder of Bishop Gerardi, founder and former director of ODHAG. Three people were found guilty of the 'extra-judicial execution' of Bishop Gerardi and sentenced to 30 years in prison each:

- a) Colonel Byron Lima Estrada
- b) Captain Byron Lima Oliva, who also received two years for falsification of documents and
- c) Jose Obdulio Villanueva

Priest Mario Orantes was found guilty of being an accomplice to the murder and sentenced to 20 years. James also met with lawyers, judges, diplomats and human rights activists. James was in Guatemala on June 6, the day CALDH (Centro para Acción Legal en Derechos Humanos) filed a lawsuit accusing General Efraín Ríos Montt of genocide in the massacre of 1000 people during the Guatemala civil war period. General Efraín Ríos Montt ruled Guatemala from March 1982 to August 1983 and is now Secretary General of the ruling Republican Front Party. Amnesty International issued an alert fearing for the safety of members of CALDH. An Amnesty observer was attacked in her hotel shortly after James left Guatemala. James was in Guatemala at a critical but dangerous time.

LRWC issued a statement in response to the trial and verdict on June 12/01. James' written report and recommendations will be circulated to members of the Spanish Speaking Committee and others who request a copy. The trial background and LRWC statement are also available. The Spanish Speaking Committee is meeting to plan further LRWC involvement in Guatemala.

3. JEYARETNAM CAMPAIGN – SINGAPORE

Howard Rubin representing both Amnesty International and Lawyers' Rights Watch Canada attended July 20 to 27, 2001 in Singapore to monitor two Court of Appeal hearings involving defamation and bankruptcy of J. B. Jeyaretnam, lawyer and parliamentarian.

Howard Rubin also met with Doreen Steidle Canadian High Commissioner to Singapore and with lawyers, politicians and former Internal Security Act detainees.

B. LETTERS FOR LAWYERS

LRWC receives information about lawyers in danger from Amnesty International, The Observatoire, Centro de Estudios Legales y Sociales, Servicio Paz y Justicia, The Social Justice Committee of Montreal, the Bar Human Rights Committee of England and Wales, Centre for Social and Legal Studies (Centro de Estudios Legales y Sociales (CELS)), the Centre for Justice and International Rights (Centro por la Justicia y el Derecho Internacional (CEJIL), and Global Exchange.

LRWC responds to some of the appeals received by writing letters. LRWC has recently started preparing research backgrounders on specific appeals to improve the quality and efficacy of the letters. Committee members who have written letters: Sarah Khan, Gail Davidson, Nerys Poole, Brenda Wemp, Constance Marlatt, Susan Coristine.

A summary of letters written in the reporting period follows.

1. ARGENTINA

- Dr. Roberto Coria of Los Juicios por la Verdad
- Dr. Lindolfo Bertinat
- Dr. Vildor Garavelli
- Mathilde Bruera
- Daniel Luna all of Rosario Sante Fé

Reports were received from two Argentine Human Rights organizations, Centro de Estudios Legales y Sociales and Servicio Paz y Justicia, that a number of lawyers in Rosario have been the subject of letter bombs, office break-ins threats and assaults. Many of them are directors of human rights organizations, and all of them involved in the investigation of disappearances that occurred during the dirty war period. LRWC wrote to the governor of Sante Fé and reminded him of Argentina's obligations to take immediate steps to ensure that these lawyers be allowed to continue their investigations free from risk of harm.

➤ Carlos Varela, Alejandro Acosta and Diego Lavado

These lawyers act for the families of three young men, two of whom disappeared after going to meet with the police and one of whom was killed after being left in the care of the police during a school trip. Since taking these cases their offices have been broken into twice and defamatory statements made about them in the media. LRWC wrote reminding Argentina of its obligation to ensure that lawyers are able to practice their profession free from threats and other interference.

➤ Mathilde Bruera and Daniel Luna

Reports from Argentina were that these lawyers, after becoming involved as lawyers investigating disappearances that occurred during the dirty war period were subjected to letter bombs, office break-ins, threats and assaults. An Argentine Judge (Gabriel Cavallo) in March declared the impunity and amnesty laws covering this period to be unconstitutional. LRWC wrote in support of these lawyers.

➤ Mariano Mansilla, lawyer

LRWC received a report from the Observatory in Geneva that the High Court of Neuquen province has asked the local Bar Association to issue sanctions against Mariano Mansilla, which could prevent him from practicing law. Mr. Mansillo, a founding member of Comité de Acción Jurídica de Argentina (CAJ-Argentine Committee for Legal Action), had, prior to the court's action, denounced Argentina's policy of discrimination against Mapuches (for whom Mr. Mansillo acts) as a violation of both the Argentine Constitution and the Covenant on Social and Economic Rights. Mr. Mansillo is reported to have voiced these criticisms in Geneva and to an Argentine newspaper.

➤ Maria Dolores Gómez

LRWC received information from the Argentine human rights group, Centre for Social and Legal Studies (Centro de Estudios Legales y Sociales (CELS)) and the Centre for Justice and International Rights (Centro por la Justicia y el Derecho Internacional (CEJIL)), that an application had been made to the Interamerican Commission on Human Rights asking the Commission to request that the government of Argentina provide and maintain adequate protection for lawyer Maria Dolores Gómez and her family, and investigate the threats against her and prosecute those believed to be responsible. Maria Dolores Gómez has been active in bringing habeas corpus applications to release wrongfully detained persons. She has been physically attacked and has received numerous threats against herself and her family for her work in this area. Nerys Poole is writing to urge the government to implement these measures.

2. BOLIVIA

➤ Waldo Albarracin

Waldo Albarracin, lawyer and President of the Bolivian Permanent Human Rights Assembly (APDH), received death threats on February 22nd and 28th that are believed to have been made in response to his work with APDH. APDH recently provided Spanish judge Baltazar Garzon with documents implicating the President of Bolivia, Hugo Banzer, in Operation Condor the government program during 1971-78 to eliminate political opponents. Mr. Albarracin was kidnapped and tortured in 1997. The Chamber of Deputies identified six government officials as responsible for the kidnapping and torture including the Chief of Police and a Prosecutor and none of these people have been prosecuted. LRWC wrote asking the Bolivian government to take immediate steps to protect Dr. Albarracin, his family and colleagues, to investigate the death threats and to prosecute the perpetrators.

3. BRAZIL

- Gustavo dos Reis Gazzola,
- Roberto de Campos Andrade
- Thomas Mohuyico Yabiku, all prosecutors

Each of these prosecutors received death threats believed to be motivated by their involvement in the investigation and prosecution of 26 prison guards and police officers under an anti-torture law adopted in 1997. [AI Index: AMR 19/003/2001]

4. BURMA

- U Cheng Po

Lawyer Cheng Po was arrested in July, charged with distributing foreign news articles, convicted by a court convened in Insein prison and sentenced September 13 to two consecutive 7 year sentences [information source: IFEX via AI's Burma coordinator for Canada]. - Jairo Carvajal Pérez, Judicial Secretary
- Dora Muñoz Pérez, Judge

These people were abducted at gunpoint on November 27, 2000. [Amnesty International Index AMR 23/99/00] LRWC wrote urging the Colombian government to act to protect the lives of these people, investigate their disappearance and prosecute those responsible. The Colombian Commission of Jurists has reported that during 1999, 102 judges and lawyers were targets of violence, 8 lawyers were murdered and that 80% of this violence was carried out by paramilitaries with the involvement of the security forces.

- Dr. Alirio Uribe Muñoz, lawyer and member of Corporación Colectivo de Abogados 'Jose Alvear Restrepo'

Amnesty International issued an alert on April 6/01 expressing concern that Dr. Uribe's life is in danger, reporting that Dr. Uribe, a human rights lawyer, has been named, along with trade unionist Wilson Borja Díaz as a target in three recently circulated death lists. An assassination attempt against Mr. Díaz has been linked, by a judicial investigation, to police and army officers. An LRWC letter, in Spanish, was sent to the Colombian government.

6. GUATEMALA

- Mynor Melgar

Mynor Melgar lawyer for the human rights organization, Oficina Derechos Humanos del Arzobispado de Guatemala (ODHAG) was threatened and his family held at gunpoint two days after Mr. Melgar announced plans by ODHAG to charge Efraim Rios Montt, retired general and leader of Congress with genocide. [information source from Amnesty International Index: AMR34/001/2001] LRWC wrote to the government of Guatemala expressing concern for Mr. Melgar's safety and of the failure of the Guatemalan government to protect the lives and independence of lawyers. Subsequently LRWC met with Mr. Melgar in San Francisco and then sent a representative to attend the final days of the Gerardi trial.

- Álvaro Hugo Martínez Pérez

The Social Justice Committee of Montreal reported that on March 13th, 2001 a crowd of people murdered Judge Hugo Martinez Perez after an unpopular ruling in a rape case. LRWC wrote to ask that this murder be investigated; that those who instigated this mob action be brought to justice; that the government take all necessary steps to ensure that no other judge or lawyer in Guatemala is physically harmed due to the performance of his or her duties.

➤ Leopoldo Zeissig

Leopoldo Zeissig, the prosecutor in the Gerardi case, was forced to flee from Guatemala after being threatened after the conviction of three army officers and a priest. LRWC issued a Spanish language press release to the Guatemalan press and wrote to government authorities urging, inter alia, protection for legal workers and the implementation of the security measures recommended by the United Nations Special Rapporteur on the Independence of Judges and Lawyers.

7. HAITI

➤ Ossagnol Servil, Haïti.

Mr. Servil, Justice of the Peace for the town of Maissade has been the subject of death threats, office break-ins and threatening demonstrations outside his office. All these occurred after Mr. Servil issued arrest warrants against two supporters of the town's mayor. Attempts to prosecute the perpetrators have been blocked by the mayor. LRWC wrote to President Aristide asking him to ensure the independence and security of judicial officers and to investigate any threats pursuant to the Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary and the Declaration on Human Rights Defenders.

8. KYRGYZ REPUBLIC

➤ Normagan Arkabaev, Co-ordinator of Kyrgyz Committee for Human Rights (KCHR)

Normagan Arkabaev Co-ordinator of the Osh division of KCHR was arrested Jun 30 2001 after criticising the Director of the National Security Service in Osh with illegal appropriation of land. LRWC wrote asking that steps be taken to end the harassment of human rights workers. The Branch Head of the General Office of the Public Prosecutor of the Kyrgyz Republic replied LRWC is addressing the issues raised in the reply.

9. MALAYSIA

➤ Zainur Zakaria

Lawyer Zainur Zakaria was summarily convicted of 'contempt in the face of the court' in November 1998 and sentenced to 3 months in jail. As defense counsel for former Deputy Prime Minister, Anwar Ibrahim, he was bringing an application to have two of the prosecutors removed from the case on the grounds that they were alleged to have been involved in attempting to fabricate evidence against Anwar Ibrahim. In support of the application was filed the affidavit of Anwar to which was attached the statutory declaration of the lawyer to whom the prosecutors were alleged to have made their proposals. Mr. Zakaria was convicted and sentenced after being given 30 minutes to apologize. The Malaysian Federal Court set aside the conviction and sentence. LRWC wrote letters to the Malaysian Human Rights Commission urging the Commission to uphold the various principles relating to lawyers' advocacy rights by calling for an acquittal as an intervenor and to the Attorney General of Malaysia asking him, as chief law officer of Malaysia to order an investigation of the allegations of evidence fabrication.

10. RWANDA

➤ Lusambo wa Karume

Lawyer Karume was arrested August 3, 2000 in Gikongoro and subsequently transferred to Kigali and then to the Bukavu Hospital. He, along with six others are believed to be held by The Rassemblement Congolais pour la Democratie – Goma (RCD Goma) and to have been arrested with the cooperation of the Rwandese Patriotic Army (RPA) [information source: Amnesty International]. LRWC wrote questioning the reasons for his arrest. Karume was subsequently found and released.

11. SUDAN

➤ Mustafa Agdel Gadir, lawyer

Mustafa Abdel Gadir who provides free counseling for prisoners of conscience and other victims of human rights violations and is the principal defense lawyer for six opposition leaders was scheduled to go to trial on June 11/01 on charges of disrupting national security. The intimidation of Mr. Gadir carried out by the Sudanese Security Forces on June 6/01, including Mr. Gadir's arrest and release, a four-hour interrogation, a search of his office and the seizure of clients' documents appear to be linked to Mr. Gadir's work as a defence lawyer. Mr. Gadir has been arrested on three previous occasions and has spent two years in prison. LRWC wrote urging the Sudanese authorities to, inter alia, ensure the safety of Mr. Gadir.

12. TUNISIA

➤ Souhayr Belhassen, Vice President of the Tunisian Human Rights League

LRWC received information that on April 14, 2001 the Tunisian police assaulted Mrs. Belhassen and confiscated documents pertaining to her human rights work. The reported assault occurred at the airport as Mrs. Belhassen was returning from attending the Commission on Human Rights at the UN in Geneva and was believed to have been precipitated by her human rights work. LRWC wrote asking, inter alia, for an end to the systematic harassment of human rights workers in Tunisia and compliance with the Declaration on Human Rights Defenders.

13. UZBEKISTAN

➤ Shovruk Ruzimuradov, Head of the Human Rights Society of Uzbekistan (HRSU)

The responses were both enthusiastic and reserved: enthusiastic to form links with Canadian lawyers dedicated to supporting human rights defenders and reserved at knowing just how well such north-south, English-Spanish links would operate. All groups offered to send LRWC information about lawyers in danger with the proviso that the information would be in Spanish. All were willing to provide such follow-up details as they were able to. LRWC has since received information from CELS, Serpaj and CISLAP.
- ❑ United Kingdom: Gail Davidson attended a course on the International Criminal Court at the Irish Human Rights Centre, University of Ireland at Galway in July 2000.
