*Thank you for being part of LRWC's community.
Your membership fees & donations make LRWC's work possible.*

Dear LRWC member,

Lawyers' Rights Watch Canada values you as a member! Your membership renewal for the coming year 2022 will help ensure that our volunteers have adequate resources to continue to advocate for lawyers and other human rights defenders at risk around the world.

IMPRISONED, ATTACKED, MURDERED, TORTURED, DISAPPEARED

Lawyers around the world are under attack for their work representing victims of human rights violations

LRWC membership fees and donations ensure needed support for our volunteers' research, educational activities, and advocacy for lawyers and other human rights defenders in danger. To ensure independence, LRWC does not accept government funding and relies on individual memberships and donations. LRWC has no paid Executive Director or full-time support staff. Membership fees and donations may be paid to Lawyers' Rights Watch (Legal Research) Canada and are tax deductible.

Examples of the work LRWC undertakes are:

Advocacy

- LRWC advocates through letters, statements and press releases as well as interventions at UN Human Rights Council and works with other human rights organizations around the world to amplify effectiveness of advocacy.

Building knowledge of international human rights

- Quarterly Newsletters. The Autumn 2021 edition of LRWC's ACTION NEWS features summaries and links to LRWC's recent research and advocacy for defenders and the rule of law around the world. See LRWC's 2020 Annual Report for summaries of LRWC actions in 21 countries.
- Regular articles in prominent Canadian legal magazines to raise awareness about the LRWC's work on the dire situation of jurists and defenders, e.g, articles on the human rights crisis in Afghanistan, United States harassment of the International Criminal Court, lack of international remedies for atrocity crimes in Myanmar, and a forthcoming article on human rights and China.
- Publication of LRWC's resource manual, *The Right to Counsel: A Guide to International Law Rights to Legal Assistance and Representation, published in 2021, free to download.
